CLAIMS

I claim:

1. A protective guard formed of a tubular body and fastened to a luggage corner such that said tubular body is fastened with a frame corner of the luggage; wherein said tubular body is provided with a protective wing extending therefrom whereby said protective wing shields an exterior of the luggage corner.

2. The protective guard as defined in claim 1, wherein said protective wing is extended from said tubular body in such a way that said protective wing and a center line of said tubular body form an angle.

3. The protective guard as defined in claim 1, wherein said protective wing is smaller in length than said tubular body.

4. The protective guard as defined in claim 1, wherein said protective wing is corresponding in length to said tubular body.
